pologies. He had held in his hands, acc on the 2d of August; his trunk was full of gold and bank notes; his pockets, as early as that date, were 'full of rocks.' 'Richard was himself again;' his course was onward,' even then; and yet this rphan boy, whom he loved so well as to swallow ip all the evidence here given, lives there with oils for three terms unpaid. If this story of his induess to this boy be true, how can it be believed hat this money remained thus in his possession rom the first of August!

The testimony of Johnson was next examined.

Mr. Hoffman said it was a singular fact that on he 2d of August Johnson should have had money to pay Edwards, asserted precisely as was that which John P. Caldwell afterwards obtained of Brown, Brothers & Co. This may have been so; but it is certainly a very remarkable coincidence—one which could not happen often. But it must have been paid—for Edwards gave his receipt for it—the last item of which is $1.50 in silver. So nicely is this $50 000 made up—while the $50,000 that Edwards is to pay is merely umped off in segroes, at $200 each. Do you be-lieve this was so! How was the commission obmined? On the 6th of April, 1842, Morroe Edwards applies to Judge Kent for a commission to examine Johnson-founded on an affidavit that two former commissions had been returned unexway to New York has been taken sick at the Ha-vara. He swears April the 6th that Johnson is sick at the Havans. Now here is a letter attachcick at the Havans. Now here is a letter attached, to Johnson from Edwards, dated April 4th, according to the oath of Johnson, asking Johnson to come here, for the first time. The letter conjudes by saying that for fear he would not ne had already had a commissioner sent to Hava-na to take his deposition. The letter begins by acknowledging the receipt of a letter, dated February 17th, stating that he (Johnson) was then ill at the Havana. From an examination of the CABINET WAREHOUSE, 70 EastBrandway, corner of Market street.—Meast, Stewart A. Trup would inform their customers and the public in central that they have a very handsome assertment of Chairs and Solar and Calmet Furniture, all of their own matter who had been argued that Johnson was some one who had been sing that his pocket was full of cash—do you believe that none of his other friends would have like that none of his other friends would have being examined and giving this testimony. It was sufficient to show that they have a very handsome assertment of the letter of Mainsell White & Co. and control that they have a very handsome assertment of the letter of Mainsell white & Co. and received the letter of Mainsell whole who had been sufficient to show that they have a very handsome assertment of the letter of Mainsell white & Co. and received the letter of Mainsell who had been sufficient to show that they have a very handsome assertment of the letter into its other place. But the two doubt. It was sufficient to show that they have of the public in the express purpose of lieve that none of his other friends would have being examined and giving this testimony. He doubt. It was sufficient to show that they have a very handsome assertment of the letter into its other place. But the express purpose of lieve that none of his other friends would have been doubt. It was sufficient to show that they have of the public in the express purpose of lieve that none of his other friends would have been doubt. It was sufficient to show that they have of the public in the express purpose of lieve that none of his other friends would have been doubt. It was sufficient to show that the proposed that Johnson was found in the case the for the purpose of saving Edwards, but of saving his $50,000, which was in the hands of Edwards. and of which the rich bankers here are trying to strip him. With regard to this co-partnership ne proof has been offered that Edwards ever owned an acre of land in Texas, or that the deeds were ver submitted to Johnson, a condition which would have been made by any prudent man, a precedent to any co-partnership. If ever there was a piece of evidence that staggered under its sen inconsistencies—that bore the marks of fraud
